

MPLT Healthcare: Associate Recruiter

Here at MPLT Healthcare, we connect people with life-changing opportunities - and we have fun doing it! The Associate Recruiter position is an entry level job that enables you to learn and grow through our extensive training program. As an Associate Recruiter, you'll develop the skills you need to graduate to the full Recruiter position. We're looking for recent college graduates with strong analytical, communication, and interpersonal skills, as well as experience with customer service, hospitality, or sales. If you're a highly motivated problem-solver who enjoys working with others and building relationships, this is the perfect opportunity for you!